

Elo Musky

Level 4→5

General assessment

You're one crazy cookie. Your unorthodox way of coding together with your drive and creativity make the apps work well and users love them. Your code is sometimes too complex making some of your colleagues a bit lost. Your ability to communicate is great, though your sometimes too harsh in your judgements. You're on a way to advance to level 5.

Recommendations

- Your programming abilities are great, but you need to put more work into learning JavaScript.
- Work on softening your critique and offering more mentor-like feedback.
- Keep your work-life balance in mind. Your constant tiredness is likely an important factor in your less than compassionate treatment of some colleagues.
- You need to write more tests as their unsatisfactory amount was a source of important incidents during deploys.
